was born at Grass Creek, Summit County, Utah, on Nov. 13, 1883, a son of John and Maggie Muir McPhie. To them were born two sons, Lindsay and Leslie McPhie.

Teenie grew up in Center Creek. Her father's farm was a mile above the town and the children walked to the little one-room school house. There was a pot-bellied stove in the center of the room and everyone tried to get close to it on cold winter days. Sometimes they had to wade in deep snow, other times they could walk right over the fences on the snow crust. When spring came it was very muddy.

Some of the school teachers of the day were Sarah Muir, George Wooton, Brigham Clegg, Charley Wahquist, Mary Brim, A. M. Hansen, Freda Jasperson and Robert W. Dowma.

Teenie took an active part in the community activities, plays and school entertainments.

She also helped her father with the farm work, riding the horse to pull the hay into the barn, herding the cows and helping milk them.

Charles McPhie met Teenie at a dance in Pryde's Hall in Center and after an eight-month courtship they were married by Charles's father. It was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. Charles was a very happy man and was loved by everyone. He was sheriff of Wasatch County eight years and was hoistman and watchman at the New Park Mine for many years. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in August of 1955. He died Nov. 2, 1955 at Heber City.
